

Planning live/work business clusters

a Live Work Network national seminar

May 12, 2004

BT headquarters
81 Newgate Street
London EC1

The seminar will consider the best ways that mixed-use live/work developments can create vibrant small business clusters. Suitable for developers, planners, economic development agencies, urban regeneration companies, cultural industry specialists, housing associations, architects and policy makers

Speakers include

Richard McCarthy director general of sustainable communities, ODPM

Tony Hallett leading expert on live/work in the USA

David Tannahill head of commercial initiatives, Peabody Trust

Ian Harrabin developer of Electric Wharf, Coventry

Toby Hyam director of Huddersfield Media Centre

Joe Gerrard director of live/work developers Investland Properties

Gerald Hitman director of rural live/work developers Brockhall Village

Pat Hayes director of regeneration and planning, LB Lewisham

David Power policy director, Places for People Group

Andrew Dakin of the Welsh Development Agency

Jeremy Myerson director of Helen Hamlyn Research Centre, Royal College of Arts

plus live/work residents

FULL DETAILS are available on our website www.liveworknet.com supported by

Office of the Deputy Prime Minister
Creating sustainable communities

Planning live/work business clusters

BOOKING FORM

name of delegate

job title

organisation

address

tel

email

signature

PRICE PER DELEGATE (please indicate number of delegates required)

Live Work Network members (before 1/2/04)

___ @ £150 + VAT (£176.25)

non members - seminar only

___ @ £295 + VAT (£346.63)

non members' special package: seminar plus full Network membership

___ @ £350 + VAT (£411.25)

Cheque enclosed (payable to Live Work Network) total: £.....

Please invoice us

VAT receipts will be sent on receipt of payment bookings are non-refundable unless there is a waiting list but can be transferred to another name please send this form to Live Work Network, Alverton Cottage, Penzance TR18 4TG

or

1 fax 01736 365989
2 call 0870 990 5151
3 email office@liveworknet.com

to book immediately